WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section fair and contended coll tonight with frosts, that ridly fair; light northerly wines, becaming viriable. COL. HOGE IN ALEXANDRIA. The Overa House was well-filled last night oy a mixture of democrats and republicans, including a number of ladies, to hear Col. J. Hampton Hoge speak. The meeting was orderly throughout, no interruptions cocurring por unseemly conduct on the part of any one to disturb the proceedings. A noticable feature was the drawing of the color line-something unbeard of before in a republicen meeting. There was to be no mingling of white and black spirits, and the few colored people who made their way into the ball were told that the orchestra enclosure was reserved, but they could take any of the seats in the back part of the house. All white people were allowed to occupy seats in the orchestra. Haley's Band had been secured for the occasion and between seven and eight o'clock they discoursed fine music in front of the Fieishmann Hotel. Short ly before 8 o'clock they entered the Opera House and enlivened the scene with more music. By eight o'clock the house was well filled, and a few minutes new, Joseph L. Crupper, Charles King, Marshell L. King A. A. Warfield, Judge M. B. Wood, S. Brown Allen, Judge W. E. Games, Thomas Lee Moore, J. M. McLaughlin and Captain Wood entered the half and proceeded to the stage. Theo were received with applause and the band again sent forth thrilling notes. When they had died away Postmaster Crupper arose and walking to the footlights said it gave him pleasure to introduce Mr. Park Agnew, who would preside over the meeting. That gentleman advanced and an d that he was no speaker, but he had prepared some data he would like to read to the audience. He began by saying that it was a proud period o his life to preside over a meeting of the good people of Alexandria. He subsequently read from the paper which he had prepared the assertions of some prominent democrats that their party had been following false gods, end cited what he claimed was democratic acknowledgment of the bad conditions existing in theranks of that party. He ceiled attention to the alleged unsucof the constitutional convention was working, and of the prosperous conditio of the country under the ad-ministration of the republican party. ministration of the republican party.
The speaker announced his belief in expansion, and thought it a good thing for those of the younger generation born with martial spirits, as opportunities were afforded them of satisfing it. He had aided a number of such recently in their aspirations. The speaker come udo he asserting that the business intered by asserting that the business interests of the country necessarily made him a republican. He then introduced Colonel Hoge to the audienc. The latter advanced amid applause and after bowing his acknowledgments he began his speech by asserting that it was his ambition to uphold the purity of the ballot box and to put it where thieves would not break through nor steal, quoting from Mr. Montague's inent of the corruption sometimes manifest at elections. The speaker was at times severe, but in the main untered no bing off nave nor did he draw ex-travagant pictures in his criticisms and investings against the powers that be He said he was a Virginian, and God fornd that he should u ter one wild formed that he should unter one word derogatory to her fair name, history or tradulous But as a faithful physician. Mayor ordered him to be locked up for traditions. But, as a faithful physician further orders. no matter how much he may love his patients, goes to the root of an ailment, the speaker must be compelled to faith diagnose the cause of the Old D minion lagging benind in the march of the 20 h century. He charged the democratic percy with causing the dws fi g of the growth of the Sate He said there was no sectionalism now-all were under the Star-spangied Bauter-and political parties must be signed up from a business point of view before and the Mayor had taken meas-not from s-niment. The North, South ures to have him sent to a reform ures to have him sent to a reform school in Renmond. He was assured to this commercial age and were forging a need on practical business lines, while the South, before vottes, was appesting to illustrious dead to secertain what was their politics. In the meantime the procession was passing and the m at t-vered section in everything was

b-coming a straggler in the maron of time. The colonel then proceeded to tell his hearers why he was once a democrat and now a republican, and said be wore certain garments when a bany which would not fit him now. This country, he assumed, was no half a century ago, but in no manner met the requirements of the times now.

Ose-hundred millions of people were now hundling under the wings of the American eagle and conditions had machanged. ago an American citizen in visiting another country was compelled to carry a pistol and bowie knife in his belt (?), ful member of the family of nations, held in respect and esteem throughout the world. The country had entered a great commercial era. It had outgrown its gwaddling clother. The speaker said the object of the party he represented was the upbuilding of the Old Dominion, and asserted that the State had been behind time for the last thirly bad been behind time for the last thirty years, and people had been voting the democratic toket right or wrong during all that time. "It was my party," most into any further examinations. The speaker then launched forth into a glowing pic ure of prosperity but carefully avoided all the turmoils through which the country has passed in the last three years and the pitfalls it is probable it will stumble into in the future with the clogated tail to its f future with the elongated tail to its kite. He referred to the democratic party repudiating its leader of the past four years and the principles of free silver it had advocated. Were he elected to the gubernatorial chair he said he would be Governor of Virginia, not of any party. The republican party had brought blessings to other States and would being them to the O d Dominion.

POWDER IN A CIGAR.-A Degre named Ronard Pines last night ap-proached another colored individual named Stephen White and asked him to purchase a cigar from him for two cents. White gave him the amount and lighted the cigar. He had drawn on it for a minute or so when there was a fish and the cigar was blown to burned, but it was soon seen that he was more frightened than hurt. He swore out a warrant for Pines' arrest, he latter being charged with an infraction of a city ordinance prohibiting persons from engaging in games dan-gerous to Lemselves or others. This morning Pines would not keep quiet to the Police Court and the original charge was dismissed, but he was fined $2 50 for interrupting witnesses.

FINED FIVE DOLLARS -George W. Carr, claiming to had from Richmond, was before the Mayor this morning charged with conducting business with out a license. It appeared that he had been selling a compound which he alleged was just the thing for cleaning furniture, but a colored woman, who had tested it, pronounced it a signal failure. The Mayor flued the accused $5. Carr appealed for mercy, said the woman did not know how to use the m xince and that he had a wife and four c'ildren d-pendent upon bim f. r suppor .
